

SMS Final Project Part 1:

Tactic 1: Three Themed Recurring Posts.

Theme 1: Heroes of Richardson Rescue - Volunteer and Donor Spotlights

General Concept: A weekly recurring series featuring the volunteers, donors, and foster families who help make Richardson Rescue's work possible. Each post includes a photo of the person or company, their connection to the rescue, and a short quote and story about why they support the mission.

Why This Will Succeed: This series creates human-centered storytelling, which increases emotional engagement and shines a positive light on community members. The series also encourages others to volunteer or donate to the rescue.

How This Supports Goals and Objectives:

- Directly increases volunteer and donor engagement by showing the community how they can get involved.
- Demonstrates impact through real stories, motivating others to join.
- Reinforces the rescue's message that community members play a crucial role in Richardson Rescue's work.

Theme 2: Adoptable Pet Personality Profiles

General Concept: A weekly feature highlighting one adoptable pet using a personality-driven profile. Posts will include important adoptable details like temperament, medical needs, ideal home, personality quirks, favorite toys, and photos.

Why This Will Succeed: This series goes beyond simple photos by giving followers emotional context about the animals. The storytelling improves adoption interest and shares, which increases visibility for posts. Also, having consistent branding improves the recognizability of the Richardson Rescue Content.

How This Supports Goals and Objectives:

- Increases page activity, which boosts the reach of their posts.
- Encourages people to become fosters or adopt, which counts toward volunteer engagement.

Theme 3: Photo Friday - User-Generated Pet Updates

General Concept: A weekly feature where adopters submit updated photos or videos of their Richardson Rescue pets in their new homes. These posts will showcase happy adoption outcomes, seasonal photos, and fun milestones.

Why This Will Succeed: This will generate high engagement because people will love seeing their pets being featured. It will also encourage user participation while building a strong sense of community around the rescue.

How This Supports Goals and Objectives:

- Shows donors and volunteers the real-life outcomes of their support.
- Happy success stories will motivate more people to donate, volunteer, foster, or adopt because they see the results.
- Encourages ongoing adopter involvement with the rescue, potentially resulting in recurring donations.

Tactic 2: Contest - Help Us Name Our New Litter!

General Concept: When the rescue receives a pregnant dog or a new litter, followers will be invited to participate in a community-driven naming contest. Instead of naming specific puppies or kittens, followers will vote on a theme for the litter's names. Staff will then select names that fit the theme.

Why This Will Be Successful:

This type of naming content consistently performs well and drives high engagement. The voting encourages large numbers of comments and shares, which will boost visibility. This will also allow followers to feel personally connected to the rescue's work and build excitement for the upcoming adoption opportunity.

How This Supports Goals and Objectives:

- Increases engagement through comments, shares, and reactions.
- Strengthens community connection, leading to more donors and volunteers.
- Helps raise awareness about the rescue's upcoming adoption placements.
